Purpose of this Addendum

The purpose of the Addendum is to provide information about changes that have occurred since publication of the 2014-2015 UoPeople Catalog. The Addendum contains approved changes to programs and courses as well as changes in policies and procedures UoPeople.

All changes and additions listed here take precedence over the information contained in the 2014-2015 Catalog. All information contained in the Addendum is subject to change without notice.

Accreditation

Effective January 2014, University of the People is accredited by the Distance Education and Training Council (DETC) Accrediting Commission, 1601 18th Street, N.W., Suite 2, Washington, D.C. 2009, (202) 234-5100. www.detc.org. The Accrediting Commission of the Distance Education and Training Council is listed by the U.S. Department of Education as a nationally recognized accrediting agency.

Administrative Withdrawals

Students exceeding the maximum number of inactive terms, either consecutively or in an academic year, will be administratively withdrawn from UoPeople. Those interested in returning to their studies will be required to apply for re-enrollment, reinstatement or academic renewal depending on the number of terms separated from the University.

Students who are administratively withdrawn on the second occasion for exceeding the maximum number of inactive terms, either consecutively or in an academic year, will not be allowed to request to return to their studies for a minimum of five (5) terms.

Admissions Updates

University of the People accepts applications to the University throughout the calendar year and prospective students may apply for admissions to any of the five terms. All admissions materials must be received via post to the Office of Admissions by the following deadlines to be considered complete.

English Composition 1 (Proctored Course)

This course is designed to help students develop their academic writing skills through the introduction of the 5 paragraph essay. Featuring the step-by-step process of the 5 paragraph essay, students will learn how to use essential writing tools such as the thesis statement, topic sentence, and supporting paragraphs while learning the guidelines of the APA style. Through further analysis of short stories, students will begin writing their own essays; strict utilization of the APA style will underscore the importance of avoiding plagiarism in both researching and writing.

This course does not apply toward meeting the requirements of any UoPeople degree program.

Course Code: ENGL 0101

Prerequisites: None

Credits: 3

English Composition 2 (Proctored Course)

This course is designed to introduce the students to the concept and application of the academic research paper and its components. In reinforcing their strengths as writers in an academic context, students will learn how to utilize critical thinking in order to synthesize research data to build a thesis statement. The course will help students gain practical tools for developing analytic skills in completing an end of the term research project.

Course Code: ENGL 1102

Prerequisites: None

Credits: 3
